Yoga Class Will Open In Lomita

Lomita Recreation Center, 24423 Eshelman Ave., announces the continuation of its Yoga program with a new eight-week course beginning Friday, Aug. 2. The two-hour class will begin at 12:30 p.m. and will be instructed by Renee Taylor.

Relaxation helps to release the pressure of everyday living to which every individual is exposed these days. The fundamental difference between yoga exercises and ordinary physical exercises is that the latter emphasizes violent movements of muscles, whereas in the yoga system all movements are slow and gradual with proper breathing and relaxation. Men, women and children, regardless of age, can study yoga as no previous training is necessary.

More information and registrations may be had by calling the Recreation Center office.
